Because the visual consistency from player to player is a vital part of the marching activity, it is often helpful to define a system of heights when applying dynamics to exercises or show music. In this way, each player can match volume and stick heights on any given musical passage. π - 1" p - 3" P - 6" F - 9" f - 12" f ...

These warm-ups came from having a wide level of skills in my marching band. Since we have seniors in the top band (of three) ranging to middle schoolers, it became apparent that the warm-ups tended to either be too easy or too difficult. To solve this, I wrote some warm-ups that had built-in multiple skill levels, mainly on the flexibility ...
